Burglars Are The Latest Thing In New York

Gather Up Cash And Jewels Valued At $2,000

Rector's Old Hostelry Now Thing Of The Past

New Building Will Soon Be Erected

The Asbestos Trust Has Been Formed

New York, Feb. 12.—Certain crimes of a bold and daring nature have always been considered man's exclusive prerogative. It was the general belief that women lacked the courage and brazenness required for such crimes as highway robbery, burglary and acts of a similar nature. Recent events have clearly shown, however, that this belief, like so many of the ideas of the anti-suffragists, rested upon an underestimation of women's ability. It plainly reflects credit upon women's astuteness, that two crafty women succeeded in robbing a banker of a large sum of money while he was walking along a much frequented street. The other day two women, in broad daylight, entered a fashionable apartment on West 151st street while the occupants were absent, gathered up $150 in cash and jewels and silverware valued at $2,000, and escaped, walking past the janitress, carrying their plunder under their bulging cloaks.

What makes the two men's daring even more remarkable is, that while they were in the apartment, robbing the place, the owner unexpectedly returned, without being able to scare away the thieves. They had locked themselves in and kept their key in the lock on the inside, thus making it impossible for the owner or the janitor to open the door. The owner never suspected that there were thieves in his apartment, but believed that there was something wrong with the lock. He left the house for a short time, visiting his married daughter, and during his absence the two thieves unlocked the door and, carrying their plunder under their cloaks, walked down the stairs, past the janitress and out of the house. No trace of them has been found.

At one of the city high schools a prize contest in short writing was arranged some time ago and many of the boys and girls submitted their literary efforts. One of the boys, with a defective ethical sense, had the audacity of copying a clever short story by O. Henry, the well known writer, and submitting it as his own work. That the fraud was not immediately detected and the plagiarist exposed is strange enough, but it is far more puzzling that the "cribbed" story was awarded the second prize. There are only two explanations of this remarkable decision of the teachers constituting the prize jury. Either the story turned in by the boy who was awarded the first prize had actually greater literary merit than the one written by Mr. Henry, which is highly improbable, or the jury did not know the difference between a good and a poor or at least inferior story. The latter explanation is undoubtedly correct and reflects discredit upon the literary taste and qualifications of the teachers.

The last meal at Rector's, the famous old hostelry on Times Square, has been served and the numerous patrons of that renowned establishment will have to seek other pastures until the New Rector's is reopened about December 15, of the present year. The present building will be torn down and in its place a fine structure, seventeen stories high, will be erected. Mr. Rector will start for Europe shortly for the purpose of buying linen, silverware, and other restaurant and hotel equipment and his staff will devote the intervening time to studying European methods and importing new culinary ideas.

It is reported that an asbestos trust has been formed and that within a short time the price of asbestos products will be materially raised. The readers of certain yellow newspapers are afraid that the formation of this trust will lead to an increase in the price of asbestos paper and will eventually compel the owners of their "literary" products from one to raise sheets to raise the price of two cents.

Jacob H. Schiff, the banker, who is also closely identified with all important Jewish charities in this city, delivered an address the other day in which he strongly urged the young Jews of New York to go West and South after their education was completed, "to build up the American empire in other parts of the country." Many men who have made a careful study of the racial and economic problems of this cosmopolitan city fully agree with Mr. Schiff and so does nearly everybody else in this city, with the exception of the young Jews themselves, to whom this advice was given.

The Interstate Bridge commission has at last selected a site for the proposed Hudson bridge and has submitted its report to the legislature. The site selected by the commission upon the recommendation of the engineers is from West 170th street in New York to the Palisades in New Jersey. The bridge is to cost $10,000,000. The site is said to have many natural and other advantages. The river is narrower there than at any other point within the limits of Greater New York and the land in the vicinity of the site is but little improved so that the land damages will be comparatively small.

Robbing the so-called "quarter-meters" installed by the gas company for the inconvenience of consumers has become quite a fad lately in this city. It is considered a case of robbing the robber and were it not for the fact that the practice is extremely dangerous for the occupants of the apartments in which the meters are located, nobody would worry much over this petty pilfering. The thieves who make a practice of robbing meters have been extremely reckless lately and forced the meters in such a manner that they allowed the gas to escape into the apartments. Several persons were overcome by the escaping gas and one or two have since died in consequence.

Police Captain Timothy Murphy of the City Hall Station, Jersey City, was amazed the other morning to find a stranger in his private office, reclining on a sofa, reading a book and smoking one of the captain's best cigars. When he asked the man what he wanted, the intruder coolly asked him not to disturb him until he had finished the chapter he was reading. The captain, who admired the cheek of the man, acquiesced, but renewed his question after the stranger had finished his chapter and began to make facetious remarks about bad cigars. As the intruder failed to give a satisfactory account of himself, the captain arrested him and took him to the first criminal court. There the prisoner said that his name was John Anderson, that he had no home and had come straight from Alaska. He was given thirty minutes to leave the city and remarked that twenty minutes was time enough for him to get out of that "hole of a town."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Case Is Heard In The Licking County Courts

One Law Firm Tries To Provide A Case

For Another Firm In Common Pleas Court

Judge Takes The Matter Under Advisement

Items Of Interest From Temple Of Justice

(Newark Advocate)

A unique case was argued before the common pleas court Friday morning. The American Bonding company, which was surety for George P. Webb, receiver, had been sued by Mary J. Lingefelter for damages growing out of the suretyship of the company on an attachment bond which George P. Webb gave at the time. Mrs. Lingefelter's property, including automobiles, etc., were attached by Webb as receiver. The hearing was on an application to have the court order Jos. N. Pugh, receiver, to defend the suit against the bonding company at the expense of the receiver. This was opposed by Kibler & Montgomery, attorneys for Pugh, who insisted that the American Bonding company should fight its own law suits and furnish and pay for its own lawyers. Flory & Flory, attorneys for the bonding company, insisted that on account of the company, being surety for Webb on the bond that the receiver was primarily liable and ought to be required to defend the suit. The matter was taken under advisement by the court. The case presented the unique spectacle of one firm trying to provide a case for the other law firm and vice versa.

Jessie B. Gilbert, trustee of Preston H. Kinehart, has filed a third partial account in probate, showing the following: Received, $552.69; paid out, $188.44; balance, $364.25.

Campaign For Membership Is On In Earnest

The result of the campaign on in this city by Mt. Vernon Tent, No. 170, K. O. T. M., is getting very warm. There were eight candidates elected as members last night and eight men were initiated in the first degree.

The campaign is being conducted by Deputy Amstutz and he is leading the boys to victory.

On Feb. 25, the second and third degree will be put on by the champion Ohio degree team, at the K. of P. armory. There will be a special meeting Monday evening, Feb. 14, at 7:30 o'clock. Let every member be present for the initiation.

Attend The Larimore Funeral At Sunbury

Mrs. Bolton Is Reported Much Better

(Ohio State Journal)

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Larimore, killed Tuesday by their son-in-law, were held at the Sunbury M. E. church yesterday morning. The funeral was one of the largest and saddest ever held in that village. The church was crowded to overflowing and nearly as many were turned away as were accommodated. In his sermon, Rev. Mr. Paulhamus did not allude to the tragedy which took the lives of two of the most respected residents of the little community. He spoke very feelingly of the 35 or 40 years in which the couple had been members of the church. Music was furnished by a double choir.

The pallbearers were 12 old veterans, comrades of Mr. Larimore during the civil war. An abundance of beautiful flowers attested the respect in which the aged couple were held by friends and neighbors.

At the Protestant hospital last evening it was said that Mrs. Carrie Bolton had passed a very satisfactory day and that her condition is rapidly improving. No complications have set in and she is considered out of danger. She is looking forward with keen anticipation to the visit of her four little children. It was said yesterday that the children probably would be taken to the hospital to see their mother today, but no word to that effect had been received at the hospital.

PLEASANT

Meeting Of Mothers' And Teachers' Club Of Third Ward

A very pleasant meeting of the Third Ward Mothers' association and Teachers' club was held at the Third ward building Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Frank Harper, the president, conducted the devotional exercises, after which Miss Knapp, public librarian, gave an elegant talk on "Stories and Story Telling." Three stories that she told were very well received, both in the way they were told and for the stories themselves. Time was then taken to discuss the papers which were left over from the last meeting.

The attendance was rather small, owing to the inclemency of the weather, but it is hoped every mother will be at the next meeting, March 11, 1910.

STATESMAN'S GLASSES

Slip Down Fair Lady's Back at Washington, and Husband Calmly Yanks 'Em Out

New York, Feb. 12.—A Washington dispatch to the American says:

"Over the tea-cups this afternoon Washington society laughed heartily about two White House incidents at the Army and Navy reception last Tuesday which are going the rounds of cheerful gossip. The Lenten season is a dull one, and today was one of its dullest days—no dinner parties, no dances, no receptions—so the two really noteworthy anecdotes filled a gap in the day's amusement.

"The dramatic personae of the first story includes a celebrated statesman rather than in years who wears glasses. While trying to adjust them to his aquiline nose on Tuesday night they slipped from his fingers—not to the floor, but down the low-cut gown of a young navy matron who was standing in front of him.

"The statesman was in despair, and finally appealed to the lady's husband to recover his property. With the usual thoughtlessness of married men, Mr. Eustand reached down his wife's back and fished out the glasses before all the guests.

"The other laughable incident came when a careless dancer caught her hand in the imposing collure of a stately white-haired Washington matron, displacing several of the puffs and curls. Much chagrined, she fixed it back again, but, alas! at least $30 worth of the puffs had fallen to the ground.

"An absent-minded admiral of national renown picked up the snow-white puffs, mistaking them for his pocket handkerchief, put them in his pocket and stalked majestically off to his carriage."

Extended To Rev. James S. Revenaugh Of This City

To North Presbyterian Church Of Cincinnati

The Pastor Makes No Statement At The Present

Relative To The Acceptance Of The Call

Some Facts About The Cincinnati Church

The North Church of Cincinnati has extended an unanimous call to Rev. James S. Revenaugh of this city, as successor to Rev. Lewis Earl Lee, at a salary of $2000.

The North church is in a beautiful suburb of Cincinnati with a population of 20,000 people within a radius of a mile of the church. There are twenty-two Presbyterian churches in the city, the North being one of the five largest. It is the leading church of that section of the city with the second largest Sabbath-school building, suitable for so large and growing a school is in process of erection and will be completed in the early summer. The call has been most earnest and enthusiastic.

The fine schools, especially the art academy and conservatory of music, are attractions to Mr. Revenaugh with the family he has to educate.

When asked by the Banner in regard to the call to Cincinnati, Rev. Revenaugh stated, Saturday morning, that he had no statement to give for publication at the present time. It is presumed, however, that Rev. Revenaugh will accept the call.

Rev. Revenaugh has been the pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city for about five years and the service he has rendered has been very satisfactory to the membership of the church. He and his family have made many warm friendships in this community and their leaving here will be a matter of much regret.
